AN IMPORTANT SOURCE FOR THE TERRITORY OF THE

BRIDGITTINE ORDER AND THE BASILICA OF SAN PIETRO IN VINCOLI IN ROME

Bridgittines, Order of the. The Cartulary of the Bridgittine monastery in Utrecht. 4 papal bulls and 3 other documents issued at various times between 1373 and 1485 in authenticated copies. Manuscript on vellum, in Latin, written by two scribes, the first section in a lettre bâtarde, the other in a well disciplined Gothic bpok hand. 37 and 39 lines. 16 leaves (folios 8 and 16 blank; a gap in the beginning of the second section). On the bottom margin of all leaves 4 holes for the strings of a seal no longer present. Folio (320 x 240 mm). English half calf, by Bretherion, 1848 (with his ticket). From the collection of Sir Thomas Phillipps (no. 13970).

Utrecht, second half of the XVth century (one section about 1485, the other about 1461). $975.00

The order of the Bridgittines (Order of Sts. Mary the Virgin and Bridget the Widow under the rule of St.Augustine) was founded by the great Swedish saint Bridget of Nerike. Already before she went to Rome in 1347 she had received instructions how to organize it from Christ himself, who appeared to her in a vision, and she had named it the Order of the Most Holy Savior. It was a monastic institution of a very unusual type, characteristic of the peculiar revival of Christian devotion inaugurated by her. Probably after the model of the French monastery of Fontevrault she combined in it a nunnery with a monks' convent. In her monastery in Vadstena in Sweden 60 nuns, 4 deacons and 8 lay brothers should represent the 72 disciples of Christ and 13 priests the Twelve Apostles and St. Paul.

The rule St.Bridget gave to her order was accepted with some modifications by Pope Urban V in 1370, but it was only after her death (in 1373) that Pope Urban VI granted a constitution to her order (in 1378). From that moment it spread to other parts of Northern Europe, to Holland and North Germany and to England, where the famous convent of Sion near London was royally endowed by King Henry V in 1415. The mother house in Vadstena in Sweden became a cultural centre for Scandinavia and the pilgrimage goal for the North of Europe, when it acquired all the indulgences granted to the Basilica of San Pietro in Vincoli in Roma.

The volume from the Phillipps collection is the cartulary of the Bridgittine monastery in Utrecht, of which little is known. Its leading members seem not to have received transcriptions of the most important grants and indulgences directly from Vadstena, where a complete cartulary was assembled about the middle of the XVth century (still preserved in the Royal Archives in Stockholm and reproduced in a sumptuous publication by Ernst Nygren in 1950). However, they tried to get hold of authenticated copies from various places at various times between the years 1461 and 1485. In the latter year two priests from the Utrecht monastery even went to Rome to procure a transcript of an indulgence bull of Sixtus IV for San Pietro in Vincoli through the mediation of the Auditor general of the Apostolic Chamber (see below no. 1).

Transcripts of the bulls of Gregory XI (below no. 6), Martin V (below no.3) and John XXIII (below no. 7) are found in the Vadstena codex, where the documents listed here as nos. 1, 2, 4 and 5 are not entered.

The Constitution bull of John XXIII lacks a considerable number of leaves at its beginning in the Utrecht Codex. However, this loss is compensated by the fact that numerous notarial certifications immediately following the end of its text present us with something of quite a special interest, which will not often be found in mediaeval manuscripts:

We can trace back the provenance of the particular copy in Utrecht which the scribe entered in the cartulary, almost to the original bull. A pedigree will make this easily understood.

CONTENTS

1 (folios 1^{r}-2^{r}) Sixtus IV, Pope. Bull dated Rome, May 15, 1472, granting indulgences for pilgrims who attended the offices celebrated in S.Pietro in Vincoli in Rome on its great feast day of St.Peter in Chains on every first of August.

The text of the bull is embodied in a document issued in Rome on May 2, 1485 by Johannes Prioris, Doctor of Decretals, Canon of S.Maria Maggiore, and Auditor general of the Apostolic Chamber. He had it transcribed for Adriaen Sluyter, priest of the diocese of Liége, Doctor of Theology and Confessor in Rome, and Brother Nicholas of Prussia. These two principals of the Bridgittine order in the Netherlands had requested an authenticated copy, because the motherhouse in Vadstena enjoyed all the indulgences granted to S.Pietro in Vincoli by the bull of Urban VI dated Dec. 3, 1378, in which this pope approved St.Bridget's constitutions of her order.

2 (folios 2r-3r). Chapter of S.Pietro in Vincoli. Document dated Rome, May 2, 1485, embodying a transcript made for the same two Bridgittine principals of the tablet on a wall in its church, in which its great relics, including St.Peter's chains, are enumerated.

3 (folio 3r). Martin V, Pope. Bull dated Florence, Apr. 7, 1416. It was sent to England, where King Henry V had founded the first English Bridgittine monastery at Sion one year before and wished to have transcripts of the bulls of Martin's predecessors confirming the rule and constitutions of the order for Sion and other monasteries still to be founded. An abridged register note at the end shows that this series of bulls started with the bull of Urban VI of 1378 and most probably also contained the"Mare Magnum" of John XXIII (see here no. 7).

4 (folios 3r-5r). Thomas Kempe, Bishop of London. Document dated London, Feb.27, 1472, containing two paragraphs of a bull, dated Basle, Dec. 10, 1434, in which Martin V confirms that the monastery of Sion enjoys the indulgence privileges granted to S.Pietro in Vincoli.

5 (folios 5r-6v). Ludovicus de Graciis, Doctor of both laws, Canon of Bologna and deputy (locum tenens) of the Auditor general of the Apostolic chamber Juan de Carvajal (the latter several months later created cardinal by pope Eugene IV). Document dated Rome, March 4, 1446, addressed to the Bridgittine brothers Magnus Buoni, Confessor general, and Olaus Petri, conventual in the mother house in Vadstena. It contains a favorable answer to their supplication to allow them to give absolution normally within the immediate jurisdiction of the Roman curia. The text of this supplication is embodied in the document.

6 (Folios 6^{v}-7^{v}). Gregory XI, Pope. Bull dated Villeneuve d'Avignon, Aug. 10, 1373, granting a special indulgence asked for by Bridget (whose death just two weeks before is not mentioned). In consideration of the long nights of Swedish winters the monks and nuns of her order are allowed to hold services at later hours in the morning daylight. On Apr. 7, 1453 Henrik Tideman, bishop of Linköping had made copies of it for the benefit of other houses of the order and had them certified by his notaries.

At the end follows an autograph notarial certification of the 6 documents by the notary Willem Buser alias Rijndorp in Utrecht.

7 (folios 8^{r}-15). John XXIII, Pope. Bull dated Rome, May 1, 1412, containing the revised constitutions of the Bridgittines, the so-called Mare Magnum, which remained the definitive form of the constitutions of the order (incomplete).
